To know all is to forgive all

If I knew you and you knew me-
If both of us could clearly see,
And with inner sight divine
The meaning of your heart and mine-
I'm sure that we would differ less
And clasp our hands in friendliness
Our thoughts would pleasantly agree
If I knew you and you knew me.

If I knew you and you knew me,
As each one knows his own self, we
Could look each other in the face
And see there in a truer grace
Life has so many hidden woes,
So many thorns for every rose;
The "why" of things our hearts would see,
If I knew you and you knew me.

The Support Staff at St. Mary's is very special to us. It does many things here that we aren't even aware of. And without it, we wouldn't be what we are today.

Our Support Staff includes: Mrs. Ourth, Sister Marilyn Roman, Sister Ruth Ksycki, Sister Alberta, Sister Irene, Mrs. Orpha May Symmonds, Mrs. Marianne Hopp, and all of the cooks.

Thanks to everyone who is a member of the Support Staff. Because without your support, we never could have made it.

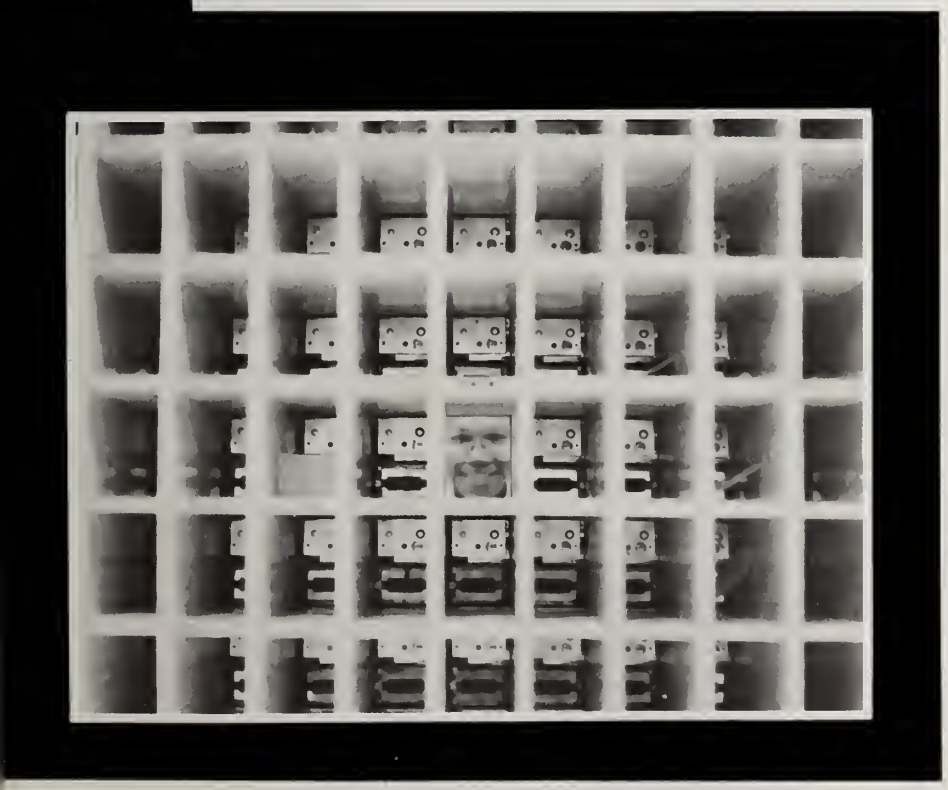
Staff

What a wonderful way
for a day to begin . . .
When a door swings wide
and a friend says:
"Come in!"



I have to live with myself, and so
I want to be fit for myself to know,
I want to be able, as days go by,
Always to look myself straight in the eye;
I don't want to stand, with the setting sun,
And hate myself for things I have done.

I don't want to keep on a closet shelf
A lot of secrets about myself,
And fool myself, as I come and go,
Into thinking that nobody else will know
The kind of a 'woman' I really am;
I don't want to dress up myself in sham.

I want to go out with my head erect,
I want to deserve all men's respect;
But here in the struggle for fame and pelf
I want to be able to like myself.
I don't want to look at myself and know
That I'm bluster and bluff and empty show.

I can never hide myself from me;
I see what others may never see;
I know what others may never know,
I never can fool myself, and so,
Whatever happens, I want to be
Self respecting and conscience free.

A man's mind is like a garden, which may be intelligently cultivated or allowed to run wild. But whether cultivated or neglected, it must, and will, bring forth. If no useful seeds are put into it, then an abundance of useless weed seeds will fall into it, and will continue to produce their useless kind.

Just as a gardener cultivates his plot, keeping it free from weeds, and grows the flowers and fruits which he needs, so may a man tend the garden of his mind, weeding out all the wrong, useless, and impure thoughts, and cultivating all the right, useful, and pure thoughts. By this process, a man sooner or later discovers that he is the master gardener of his soul, the director of his life.

Student Council, Newspaper,

Groups such as Newspaper, Student Council, and the Track team do not begin to excel until the end of the school year. Newspaper begins preperations for their massive final issue.

Student Council is diligently working on new and creative activities for the Spring Festival. And track team is getting in shape for competition. However, their contributions can be lost in the midst of the spring fever.

But as in the words of Herman Stencil, "Those who find contentment in their own hearts have acquired the greatest glory."

DIST. NO. 325

Again

Prowlers And Callers

The date is October 31, 1979. The place is St. Mary's Academy, where the annual Halloween Party is taking place. Here we see a variety of funny and spooky creatures. As we visit the Tunnel, where the Seniors are holding their annual Spook House, we see Jeanine Silas dressed as Dracula, and Jo Barrett and Kathy Travis in the jail. Sr. Marlene and Diane Franque are patroling the scene as two Keystone Cops.

Also, St. Mary's held a phonethon this fall to try to reach a $10,000 goal. Many hours of dedicated phoning and horn-honking resulted in pledges totaling over $13,000. Prizes were given to Marty Hopp for the most money raised, and to Sue Teichman for making the most calls in a given time period for the Academy.

Parents Day

It's another typical parents day at Saint Mary's Academy, girls running with tear filled eyes, parents smiling with open arms, and then a quick embrace and the day begins. Many events occur throughout this special day. From mass and sports exhibitiions to school conferences and drama productions. It's a fun filled adventure. But, all too soon, the day must end. Girls and parents reluctantly part.

Actors Studio

Actors Studio consists of 5 actresses, 1 costume designer, lights and stage crew, and a director, Pam Houston. They not only entertain us, but, also other people as well. They travel to schools and compete in competition which they have received rewards. The actresses seem to have a good time doing what they do best.

Spirit Week

Spirit Week was a great success this year. It not only promoted much spirit, but also provided fun.

This year's schedule of Spirit Week is as follows:

Monday - Clash Day
Tuesday - Gangster Day
Wednesday - Saint Day
Thursday - Blue & White Day
Friday - Occupation Day

All grades attained a great deal of spirit during the week, but the sophomores won this year by a slim margin.

Twas the night before Christmas, when all through our pad, not a creature was stirring, not even my dad. The gym socks were hung by the chimney at noon, in hopes that Mother would wash them soon. My sister was nestled all snug in her bed, while visions of John Travolta boogied through her head. And Mama and her cold cream and I half asleep, had just settled down after watching "The Deep." When out on the sundeck I heard a big smash, I jumped from my bed while grabbing my cash. Away to the window I ran like a sprinter, tore open the shutters and got a big splinter. The moon shinning brightly on the week-old snow, lit up the screen of the drive-in show. When what to my blood-shot eyes should appear, but a minature sleigh and eight giant reindeer. And a little old driver with a long white beard, I thought to myself, "Man he is weird!" More rapid than trains running down their tracks, he whistled and shouted and jumped on their backs. "Now Crasher, now Dasher, now Dancer, now Nixon, on Comet, on Stupid, on Downer, and Friction." To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall, "Hurry up you mules! Come when I call!" As dry leaves that are blown in the fall, his team was unorganized, trying to stall. But up to the housetops, those reindeer flew, St. Nick was behind them whipping his crew. And then in a flurry I heard on the roof, the stomping and pounding of each giant hoof. As I itched my head and was turning around, down the chimney he came with an earthshaking sound. He was dressed all in fur from his head to his feet, his clothes were all covered with ashes and sleet. A bundle of toys he had flung on his back, he looked like a shoplifter filling his sack. His eyes how they smoldered, his dimples how deep, his cheeks were like roses, his nose like a beak. His droll little mouth was drawn up all nice, the beard on his chin was all covered with lice. The stump of his pipe he held tight in his dentures, although he took them out many times for adventures. He had a broad face and a square little tum, that popped when he laughed, like a piece of Bubble Yum. He was chubby and fat, a right jolly old bum, I laughed when I saw him and choked on my gum. With a wink of his eye and an order to his elf, he tripped on the rug and hit his head on the shelf. He spoke not a work, but went straight to his work, he filled all the gym socks, while I thought, "What a jerk!" And laying a bill on the side of the table, he said, "Send the money by mail or by cable." He sprang to his sleigh, to his herd, gave a lash, and away they all flew, when I saw them all crash. But I heard him exclaim, as he drove through the sleet, "Good-bye, I'm going home now, to soak my poor feet."

Be who you're meant to be;
Break the barrier of sound and space,
See the light so you can be free.

And speed along a rainbow bright,
Find that treasured pot of gold
That's hidden from your sight.
The stairway to heaven is sometimes hard

Dividing the Us

And sometimes I wonder
How will it all end.
With a girl whom you love,
And who's your best friend.
You say you can walk away and smile.
Maybe see each other a little,
once in a while.
Since when is leaving easy?
And how is it done?
Should we walk away slowly —
Or should we run.
Both ways will hurt
Making the one into two.
Dividing the us.
-Into me
— Into you.

I love you always and forever

The 1979-80 Yearbook Staff Leaves Us With A Portion Of The Past, And A Foot Into The Future.

I have a garden which I love, Once in awhile it looks perfect. All the watering, feeding, pruning and love add up to a moment of beauty.

Then I think . . . if only I could keep it this way, preserve this moment forever. But my garden is alive. Time and seasons bring changes. Living things must change.

A life is like a garden. Perfect moments can be had, but not preserved, except in memory.

This book is dedicated to a thought, not new, but durable . . . I am a living thing which must change. If I can accept the changes, I can accept myself, and when I accept myself I can enjoy the changes and the beauty of the changes in the garden of my life.

Leonard Nimoy

Hannah,

Hi! I bet your happy now, that your graduating from this "god awful" place. We had some bad times and some ~~good~~ great times But the best years are yet to come. I know when you leave you'll leave missing your favorite person "Sr. Paula"!

I hope one day you will Lead the kind of life you want not the kind of life some one tells you! you will neve.

I hope you have lots of fun in life And I hope life will be good to you.

Next year at this time I'll probably look back and remmber This hell-hole called St. Mary's This place is the worst but I have to thank it for having some of the sweetest people in The world here. I hope you stay my friend for ever Because I'll stay hours for at least that long.

Stay out of Trouble.
